CREW CAB INFORMATION

A crew cab is a vehicle that comprises a cab, with seating for a driver and a minimum of 3 and a maximum of 6 other persons, and has an area to the rear of the cab that is designed, constructed or adapted exclusively for the carriage of goods and which is completely and permanently separated from the cab by a fixed rigid partition. The goods carrying area must be greater than the seating area.

Typical examples of commercial crew cabs would be the vehicles used by the ESB and Eircom for transporting crew and goods or cargo.

Crew cabs are constructed to carry goods. The carriage of personal effects alone and farm produce for farmers' own use would not satisfy the requirement to carry goods in the course of a trade/business etc.

The carriage of passengers is permitted in a crew cab provided they are employed by the registered owner of the vehicle, the carriage takes place during the course of their employment (only during the time they are paid, not going to or coming from work unless it forms part of the paid working day) and the vehicle is ordinarily used for the conveyance of goods in the course of trade or business.

Article 3 of the 1992 Road Vehicles (Registration and Licensing) Regulations provide for the licensing authority to be satisfied that the appropriate disc is being applied for.

Crew cabs are constructed to carry goods and may be taxed as a goods vehicle provided all the necessary requirements are submitted.

Please note if a vehicle has been converted to a crew cab it will need to be inspected before it can be taxed.

Normal Documentation Required

Application Form

Crew Cab Declaration Form

DOE Pass Statement or Certificate of Roadworthiness

Weight Docket (Owners first time taxing)

In addition you will also have to submit supporting documentation to confirm that you are registered as a business, for example:

Applicants should be aware that if the crew cab is used in any situation other than that outlined then the higher rate of tax is payable i.e. the private rate.

Please note that if the vehicle is used at any time for social, domestic or pleasure purposes it must be taxed at the private rate.
